73rd Year—21

Roads In Area Mostly Clear, But Snow Due

Forecast Predicts Flurries Tonight; Driving Slippery

Roads in Pickaway County, at least the main ones, are in "good" condition, according to a survey of various road and highway departments in the area.

Joe Rooney, in charge of the State Highway Garage here, said that the main state highways were clear. He added that the sunshine which finally broke through around noon plus increased traffic was helping to get rid of a lot of the snow.

Henry McCrady, county engineer, said that some of the rural roads were still slippery. He said that driving conditions were still "tricky" in some areas. He added that his crews were working to clear all roads.

Circleville Service Director Dewey Speakman said that some city streets still were slippery. However, he said that for the most part most streets were in "fairly good" shape.

ALL THREE echoed the claim that no sooner had their crews cleared streets and highways than a new snow began to fall. This meant starting all over again.

And this may be the pattern for the next couple of days here, according to weather predictions. The latest forecast calls for snow flurries tonight, with more snow probable Friday night.

Terrorists Back In Action In Tunisia

TUNIS (AP)—Isolated rebel bands and grenade-hurling terrorists have begun to reappear in Tunisia after 18 months of faltering progress toward self-government.

Most of the outbreaks, which began two weeks ago, have been small. But they underline the political and economic difficulties of the French North African area.

Nationalist violence all but ceased after Pierre Mendes-France, while France's premier, made his dramatic flight here in July 1954 to offer Tunisians a large measure of autonomy.

Habib Bourguiba, popular leader of the nationalist Neo-Destour party, returned from exile to a tumultuous welcome. Moderate nationalist Tahar Ben Amar was named premier, and the two men began negotiating with the French and working at home to improve Tunisia's lot.

The new setup gave Tunisians considerable control over their home affairs, but the French continue to direct defense and foreign relations.

Friction arose when Bourguiba's once-close friend in the Neo-Destour, Salah Ben Youssef, refused to go along with anything less than full independence. Ben Youssef began denouncing the agreements with France.

Jet Crash-Lands; Nose Rams House

ST. LOUIS (AP)—When the engine of his Navy jet plane flamed out over suburban St. Ann yesterday, Maj. Roy H. McDonald picked the only "open patch" he could see and set her down.

The F4F skidded several hundred feet in snow, wrecking three cars and a trailer, and came to rest with its nose rammed three feet into the living room of Frank S. Kibler who was watching TV.

Kibler, 56, received a slight cut on the forehead. McDonald, 31, escaped injury. He is a Marine Reserve pilot who is a flight test engineer for the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. in St. Louis.

Egypt Says Jews Open Fire Again

GAZA, Palestine (AP)—Egypt complained to the United Nations Mixed Armistice Commission that an Israeli patrol opened fire on an Egyptian post east of Gaza early today.

An Egyptian spokesman said the Egyptians returned the fire and the exchange continued half an hour. No Egyptian casualties were reported.

Michigan Youths Held For Slaying

Holdup Murder Of Wapak Tavern Owner Admitted By Youthful Trio

WAPAKONETA (AP)—Three Michigan youths are expected to be returned here today to face first degree murder accusations in the holdup slaying of a tavern owner near Wapakoneta.

Police in Hazel Park, a Detroit suburb, arrested the trio yesterday. They are James Ronnie Harris, 19; James Thornton, 20, and Army Pvt. Willie Thomas, 20.

Police said Harris admitted shooting Charles Stolzenbach, owner of the Hickory Villa Inn near Wapakoneta, in a holdup attempt Tuesday night.

Anglia County Sheriff Robert Davison went to Hazel Park last night to pick up the youths after having filed first degree murder charges against them here.

The sheriff's office said it was informed the three had agreed to waive extradition and would be returned to Wapakoneta today after a court hearing.

The youths told police they decided on the robbery because they were "low on funds—we had about 10 bucks." They were returning from a trip to Covington, Ky., to visit Harris' brother.

Lt. Harold J. Hill of the Hazel Park Police Department said a car license number written on a slip of paper and found at the shooting scene led to the arrest of the trio. Hill said the number was the same as the tag on a car owned by Harris.

AN OFFICER who went to the Harris home stopped a car that drove past and found Harris, Thornton and Thomas. They had three guns with them, a .38 revolver, a .22 automatic and a .22 revolver.

Coroner Richard H. Schaefer said Stolzenbach had been shot

Heroic Mother, 41, Dies From Burns

CHILLICOTHE (AP)—An heroic mother of five died today of injuries suffered Tuesday while rescuing her young son and a nephew from her burning home.

The victim, Mrs. Monroe Kimbler, 41, suffered first and second degree burns over her entire body when, in spite of a broken ankle and a blazing dress, she pulled her son Paul, 3, and her nephew Dickie Patterson, also 3, to safety before collapsing in the snow.

She told officials later that the flames which engulfed her home near Richmondale may have been started by the two boys.

Her four other children were in school at the time.

Canadian Thugs Returning To U. S.

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—Two men accused of the $28,000 holdup last April 30 of the Waterville, Ohio, bank have been ordered extradited to the United States.

The accused are John Machibroda of Hamilton, Ont., and Marvin Breaton of Brantford, Ont.

A second extradition hearing against Machibroda, accused of the $10,436 robbery Nov. 22 of the First National Bank of Forest, Ohio, was set for Feb. 20.

Ike Used 'Good Judgment' In Shunning '48 Race—HST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman writes that he told Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1948 "I thought he was using good judgment" in deciding not to run for the presidency that year.

In the latest installment of his memoirs, published today in Life magazine, the former President says he asked Eisenhower point-blank about his plans, and:

"He told me that he had no intention of running for the office. I said that I did not think he could add anything to his splendid career and that the only thing he would accomplish by getting into politics would be to detract from his reputation."

Eisenhower, then Army chief of staff, had not at that time declared himself a Republican. Truman says some "professional liberals" among the Democrats were all for ditching Truman and running Eisenhower instead.

But the former President said he was determined to run himself under the left arm with either a .22 or .25 caliber revolver.

Davison said the tavern keeper apparently was shot while he stood with his hands raised in front of his cash register. He apparently staggered into the kitchen, collapsed and died.

Hill quoted Harris as saying, "I saw him (Stolzenbach) duck down and I thought he was going for a gun. I fired—not at him but over his head, to keep him down. Just as I fired the guy raised up."

Davison said the youths left without taking any money. They told authorities they didn't know Stolzenbach had died until they were arrested.

Gold Medal Is Presented To Dr. Salk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk today received a congressional gold medal for "his great achievement in the field of medicine" in developing the polio vaccine which bears his name.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom presented the medal to the University of Pittsburgh scientist at the request of President Eisenhower.

Government officials, members of Congress and officials of organizations interested in the Salk Vaccine program were invited to the ceremony at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Folsom told Salk his "successful research is a great landmark in the war against polio."

The secretary read a letter from the President to Salk saying that "through dedicated and selfless effort, in the best traditions of medical research, you have brought new hope to mankind in the continuing battle against a dread disease."

"I am confident that the entire nation joins me in lasting gratitude and appreciation, and in best wishes for many years of continued service," the President added.

Last April at a White House ceremony the President presented Salk a citation for his achievement and last summer Congress authorized presentation of the gold medal, voting $2,500 for that purpose.

Cincinnati Battles Another Snowfall

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati's second major snowstorm in eight days ended last night but this city still had a traffic headache.

It was just a week ago last night that a storm started which left this area under 8 1/2 inches of snow. A 15-hour snow yesterday added almost six inches to what was left from the first storm. The Weather Bureau said the residue was about four inches.

All of that wouldn't mean too much up in the flatlands but down here where the streets run up and down instead of straight it's a major problem.

Navy To Fly Snowball Cargo

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Navy plane will leave the frozen north country of St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 25 on an important mission of war: bringing snowballs.

They will be used in a snowball fight staged by the New Orleans Recreation Department for kids who have never seen snow.

Court Rule On Segregation Seen As Curb On Communism

COLUMBUS (AP)—The course taken by the U. S. in response to the Supreme Court ruling on school segregation will be a determining factor in the world struggle against Communism, a Negro university president believes.

Dr. Mordecai Johnson, president of University, Washington, D. C., addressed his remarks to the 37th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention, which concludes its four-day meeting today.

Johnson told 2,300 ministers yesterday the Supreme Court decision "is no regional matter."

He added, however, "while the determinative course is set in the South, it is a matter of the utmost significance because of its determinative value upon the position of the United States and the world in the struggle against Communism."

Johnson said "the Christian church may well throw all its energy and bear every cross to bring about the course of action in conformity to the decision."

The high court's ruling "has thrown the South into a state of agony," Johnson said.

Mothers March In City Tonight

Circleville residents are reminded that the Mothers March on Polio—highlight of the annual campaign against the crippling disease—is scheduled for the city tonight.

Elsewhere in Pickaway County, the Mothers March has been in progress for several days. And it will also reach its high point this evening.

Homes that have a contribution waiting are asked to keep a light on their front porch or in one of the front windows as a signal of welcome for the volunteer mothers group.

Leaders of the annual March of Dimes throughout the nation have emphasized that the battle against polio is still far from won, despite the big gains achieved through the Salk vaccine.

New Peace Drive By Kremlin Seen

2 Developments Labeled Signals For Revival Of 'Geneva Spirit'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian bosses Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita S. Khrushchev appear to be launching a new peace offensive designed to revive the "spirit of Geneva" and regain a measure of Western good will.

The timing of their moves suggests too that they want to offset in advance any criticism of their recent behavior which President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Eden may make after talks here next week.

Two developments may signal a renewed Soviet emphasis on peace:

1. Premier Bulganin's letter to Eisenhower, delivered with full diplomatic ceremony yesterday. While the contents have not been officially disclosed, the letter was described by the White House as friendly in tone and containing "certain ideas" for Eisenhower to "study further in the interest of promoting world peace."

2. A three-hour interview which Communist party boss Khrushchev gave in Moscow to Marshall Macduffie, a New York attorney who is a long-time acquaintance.

MACDUFFIE quoted Khrushchev as saying he thinks American leaders including Eisenhower basically strive for peace and do not want war.

Khrushchev also said Soviet leaders believe there should be further relaxation of international tensions, according to Macduffie. He described all Khrushchev's references to Eisenhower as "very friendly."

Macduffie, now representing the International Trade Shows of New York, was chief of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in the Soviet Ukraine just after World War II. He first met Khrushchev then, and saw

Top 3 Medical Finalists Listed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Three men who received their medical educations outside Ohio—two of them in Europe—headed the list of 109 persons who passed the December State medical examination.

The State Medical Board announced today that Paul H. Ornstein, Cincinnati, topped the list with a grade of 89.4. He was educated at the University of Heidelberg in Germany.

Second were Charles E. M. Wenyon of the Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, and James F. Rimel, Plymouth Ind. Each had grades of 89. Wenyon was educated at Oxford, England, and Rimel at the University of Iowa.

First GI Ashore In Europe Recalls Event 14 Years Ago

HUTCHINSON, Minn. (AP)—A friendly man behind a lunch counter here hopes someday to return to Northern Ireland, where just 14 years ago today he walked into fleeting international fame as the first American soldier of World War II to set foot in Europe.

"The whole thing about being 'first' stays pretty quiet nowadays," said Milburn H. Henke, now 37, who operates a lunch counter at a highway intersection.

"I'd have trouble right now telling you whether it was on the 26th or the 28th of January," he said, "but I sure remember it."

"Someone asked for a man from B Company. Somebody else said to me, 'You go with him.' I thought it was going to be an unloading detail."

He told newsmen in Moscow that Khrushchev bracketed Sir Anthony Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure among the Western leaders who in the opinion of Soviet officials do not want war.

One informant described it as "going beyond disarmament."

Marx Expert Says Reds Can Be Peaceful

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal court jury here yesterday was told that Communists can be peaceful or violent in their methods.

The statement was made by Dr. John Somerville, called by the defense as an expert on Marxism-Leninism, the Communists' basic philosophy.

A philosophy professor at Hunter College in New York, Dr. Somerville testified as the final witness in defense of 10 persons charged with conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

He said a Communist revolution "may take place peacefully but often in a forcible and violent way." He added that Marxism-Leninism calls for violent measures when an existing government refuses or is unable to respond to "the will of the majority."

The prosecution pictured Communists as dedicated revolutionists, eager to seize power by force in this country, in 21 days of testimony at the trial which opened last Oct. 31.

Dr. Somerville's testimony was challenged by U. S. Attorney Sumner Canby, who testified that the professor had not learned or taught the Marxism-Leninism doctrine as a member of the Communist party.

Also quizzed by Judge Charles J. McNamee on the sources of his study, the witness indicated they were based largely on writings of the founders and developers of Marxism-Leninism.

Steer Just Mad About Hamburgers

Cancer Attack Tops List Of 5-Point Plan

28 Pct. Increase Seen Needed In U. S. Outlay For Medical Assistance

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to vote $126,525,000 for basic research to penetrate the "dark mystery" of cancer and to combat other leading killers.

The request was made in a five-point program laid before the legislators in a special message calling for "a renewed and reinvigorated attack on our health problems."

Eisenhower called for action in five general areas, providing for: 1. A 28 per cent increase in federal funds for basic medical research to a total of $126,525,000. 2. A new program of grants, $250 million over the next five years, for construction of medical research and training facilities.

This money would go to state, local and private institutions with a provision that they must supply "at least equal amounts in matching funds."

3. "Further steps to meet health personnel shortages. No specific amount was recommended here, but Eisenhower said the number of physicians being graduated from medical schools is barely keeping pace with the increase in population, and that the number of dentists and nurses is diminishing relative to population.

4. ACTION to strengthen certain other basic health services throughout the nation.

His fifth point was that of meeting costs of medical care and embracing his plan possibly to submit later legislation for pooling of insurance risks.

Under this item, the President also recommended that Congress authorize a separate program through which the federal government would match funds expended by the states and localities for medical care for the indigent aged, the blind, the permanently and totally disabled, and dependent children.

In noting progress already made in the medical research field, Eisenhower singled out "the widespread use of the Salk poliomyelitis vaccine within the last year."

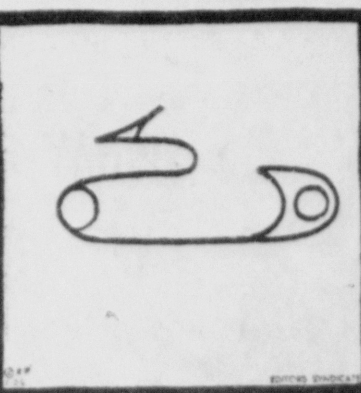

He said it "has proved highly effective in reducing the threat of paralytic poliomyelitis to many of our children."

Eisenhower noted that a current program providing federal funds to assist the states in providing free Salk vaccine for many children and expectant mothers will expire Feb. 15. He recommended an extension to June 30, 1957, and appropriation of $30 million to complete the program.

"UNSAFETY PIN"

Dr. Kitzenger invented this pin as part of his new philosophy of life which is to "live dangerously." He is determined to live dangerously and have some excitement before, as he puts it, "it's too late." Since the first of the year he's been striking matches without closing the cover, he eats un-enriched bread, when he gets hold of a paper towel he blots instead of rubbing, and he purposely forgets to take his vitamin pills at least twice a week. Not only that, but last Monday he put bananas in the refrigerator and he only chews his food 10 times per bite. Right now he's trying to work up his nerve for the supreme test. Some day while Mrs. Schwine is watching Libera he's going to turn off the television set.

Local Farmers To Hear Of Life In USSR

District residents will get a first-hand version of farm life inside Russia when the annual joint meeting of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative and Pickaway County Farm Bureau is held next Saturday night.

Ralph E. Olsen of Ellsworth, Iowa, one of the 15 American farmers who visited farms in Russia last year as guests of the Soviet government, will be the headline speaker. The joint meeting will be held here at the fairgrounds coliseum.

Olsen will show slides of farm scenes taken in Russia by his group.

Special music by the Walnut Township School will also be featured, and will be in charge of Mrs. Elizabeth Dunkel, music instructor.

Serving of a barbecue supper, to which all farmers are invited, will start at 6 p. m. and will continue for one hour.

Mrs. Leora Sayre, home extension agent, with her committee of representatives from Farm Bureau advisory councils, will be in charge of serving.

gram which he recommended would provide:

For cancer $32,437,000; heart diseases, $13,345,000; neurology and blindness $12,196,000; infectious and parasitic diseases $9,799,000; dental disorders $2,971,000; and $11,922,000 for general research programs of the national institutes of health.

On the point of health personnel, Eisenhower renewed the call, sounded in his health message last year, for enactment of legislation to provide for (A) a five-year program of grants for training practical nurses (B) traineeships for graduate nurses, and (C) authority to establish traineeships in other public health specialties.

As for strengthening basic health services, the President called for, among other things:

Sickness surveys — he said the last comprehensive survey of illness in the United States was made 20 years ago, and that since then American medicine has experienced the most rapid and dramatic changes in its history. He recommended that Congress authorize public health service to conduct new surveys.

Expansion of medical care facilities — extension for two more years of the federal-state program to aid in construction of hospitals and other medical care facilities was recommended. The budget calls for a 19 million dollar increase in funds to accomplish that.

Mental illness — The President renewed his call for authorization of a new program of mental health project grants aimed at improving the quality of care in mental institutions, as well as putting administration of such institutions on a higher level.

Water and air pollution — Eisenhower recommended strengthening of the water pollution act expiring on June 30. He also appealed for a substantial increase in funds to broaden the research attack on air pollution, including smog, by non-federal institutions as well as by the Public Health Service and other government agencies.

Public health aspects of civil defense — The President noted that he has included funds in the budget to strengthen research in this field for dealing "with any civil defense emergency that may arise."

Veterans medical program — About half of $3 million dollars requested in the budget for construction and improvements at Veterans Administration facilities would go for replacement of old hospitals, the President said.

Eisenhower said the attack on health problems "should be a characteristically American partnership — a partnership in which private and governmental enterprise are joined to advance the national welfare."

"The important role of the federal government is to provide assistance without interference in personal, local or state responsibilities," he said.

Route 1 was released Thursday from Berger Hospital, where he was a tonsillectomy patient.

Deborah Kay Lines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lines of Laurelville Route 2, was released Thursday from Berger Hospital, where she was a tonsillectomy patient.

DFATHS AND FUNERALS

CHARLOTTE RUFF

Mrs. Charlotte Bach Ruff, 88, of 159 E. Mound St. died at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday in Berger Hospital, following an extended illness of 4 years.

She was born Nov. 29, 1867, in Jackson Township, the daughter of Leonard and Caroline Trump Bach.

Mrs. Ruff was a life-long resident of Pickaway County. She was a member of the Christ Lutheran Church at Lick Run when her residence was in Jackson Township. Since she became a resident of Circleville, she was a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

For many years she served as a Sunday school teacher and she was also an active member of the Ladies Society of the church. She also served as organist for the Lick Run Church.

Ed Wallace Named To Special Group From Legislature

Ed Wallace, Democratic representative to the Ohio Legislature from Pickaway County, has been named treasurer of a special group.

He is one of five state lawmakers who have formed a Democratic Legislative Campaign Committee. This group's announced purpose is to work for the election of Democrats in the Ohio Legislature this year.

Rep. Paul Siple, from Lawrence County, is chairman of the group. Others include: Rep. Jesse Yoder, of Montgomery County, and Sen. Arthur Blake, from Belmont County, vice-chairmen; Sen. Joseph W. Barkunek, from Cuyahoga County, secretary; and Wallace.

Siple said the committee will seek to get Democratic candidates for all seats in the Ohio House and Senate. He added that the group also plans to integrate a state-wide campaign for legislative candidates and establish a legislative speakers' bureau.

Hunter Bound Over To Grand Jurors

Clarence Hunter, who landed back in jail here barely a week after he had been put on probation, has been bound over to the Pickaway County grand jury. Bail was set at $1,000 by Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb.

Hunter had been previously indicted by the grand jury for forgery. After pleading guilty at his arraignment, Hunter was placed on three year's probation by Common Pleas Judge William Radcliff.

In less than a week, Hunter reportedly wrote a check on a Columbus bank, although he allegedly did not have funds there. His official accusation reads "issuing a check with no account".

Hunter reportedly was headed for Texas when he was apprehended in the railroad station in Columbus. Previously, Police Chief Elmer Merriman and Sgt. Turney Ross had to go to Texas to pick up Hunter on the forgery charge which apparently dated back to 1953.

Chicago Hog Prices Take Sharp Upturn

CHICAGO — Hog prices jumped an average of 50 to 75 cents a hundred pounds today in the fourth straight day of a sharp advance.

Packers and Eastern shippers rushed into the market and quickly cleared up all the 10,000 hogs offered for sale. The trading had an almost panic air with buyers trying to acquire numbers and not sorting out offerings for quality.

There were some gains ranging to around $1.00 or more on butcher hogs. The top price was $14.75 a hundred pounds, up 75 cents for the day and $2.25 for the week. It was the best price for hogs since Oct. 18, 1955.

Behind the advance, livestock men said, was a steep drop in receipts this week. This made packers anxious to acquire hogs to keep their killing crews busy.

In the first four days this week Chicago has received 39,500 hogs for sale on the open market compared with 65,000 in the same period last week.

Most hogs scaling 190 to 220 pounds sold at $13.50 to $14.50 a hundred pounds while those scaling 230 to 260 pounds brought $13.00 to $14.00.

Despite the sharp upturn this week, prices remained under a year ago. The top one year ago was $18.25.

Ohioan, 24, Cited For Manslaughter

NEW YORK — The Warren, Ohio, boy friend of a girl who came to New York a year ago for a career as a fashion designer has been charged with manslaughter in her Christmas Eve death.

Thomas G. Daniel, 24, was charged yesterday in the death of Jacqueline Smith, 20, formerly of Lebanon, Pa. Also charged was Leo Pijuan, 46-year-old hospital attendant and a friend of Daniel.

Pijuan is accused of performing a bungled abortion with aid from Daniel. The district attorney's office said Miss Smith's body was cut into more than 50 pieces after her death, the parts wrapped in gay Christmas gift wrapping and then disposed of in trash cans.

ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Ohio turkey growers, optimistic over prospects for a good production year ahead, will open their 1956 program schedule with a Winter Meeting and Dressed Turkey show Saturday in Plumb Hall on the Ohio State University campus. Fine quality turkeys will be the order of the day. Producers will enter their birds in competition for top prizes.

Among the speakers will be Robert Van Houten, U. S. Department of Agriculture, who will discuss methods used in preparing turkey market reports, and M. G. McCartney, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, who will present results of research work with ten strains of turkeys.

A. W. Brant, USDA, will speak on processing turkeys for a premium market and a panel will discuss the merits of Bronze and large white turkeys.

As a program highlight, winners of the first Ohio Junior Dressed Turkey show, held last month, will receive trophies.

Ohio fruit growers will hear discussions on the latest developments in fruit production, processing and marketing at the annual meeting of the Ohio State Horticultural Society to be held February 15-17 in Cleveland.

Speakers for the 3-day event will include representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Ontario experiment station, Vineland, Ontario; the International Apple association, several Ohio fruit growers and members of the Ohio State University extension and experiment station staffs.

Discussions will deal with apples, peaches, plums, cherries, grapes and berries.

The mulch system of soil management for growing Concord grapes has a lot of merit, according to J. M. Beattie of the Ohio Agricultural experiment station.

Results of a 9-year test show that grapes grown under permanent mulch produced over 5 pounds more fruit per vine than those under cultivation with a winter cover crop. With this increase in yield the mulch system was as economical as the conventional cultivation plus cover crop system. In addition, a permanent mulch gives better erosion control of weeds, and increases the availability of certain essential plant nutrients.

Beattie recommends wheat straw at the rate of 10 tons per acre for the mulching material. It is necessary to add more straw each year to maintain a layer of mulch about 10 inches deep.

Growers should apply 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre per year for the first 5 to 6 years after establishing the mulch. After this period the bottom layer of straw is well rotted and no extra nitrogen is necessary.

One criticism of the mulch system is that the grapes have a lower soluble solids (sugar) content and higher acid content than grapes from cultivated vines. Beattie believes this may be offset to a large extent by allowing the grapes to ripen slightly longer before they are picked.

Ohio Spud Growers Asked To Cut Back

WASHINGTON (AP)—Growers of the summer and late crops of potatoes have been asked to reduce their plantings this year.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson who made the recommendation yesterday, said an average cut of eight per cent below last year is needed to prevent overproduction.

The guide for the summer crop was put at 65,000 acres compared with 71,300 last year. The guide by major producing states and the percentage cutback from last year, for each, respectively, included: Ohio 22,000 or same.

$7 Million Gas Tax Refund Is Made

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state department of taxation last year refunded $7,729,043 in state gasoline taxes paid by persons who did not use gasoline they bought to travel on state highways.

Most of the refunds went to farmers who bought gasoline for tractors and other vehicles they used in their fields. Others went to contractors.

There were 221,434 claims for refunds filed last year, the tax commissioner, Stanley J. Bowers, said. Of this number 220,446 were approved. Some 13,218 claims were reduced by a total of $140,489 after they were checked.

$12,000 Granted For Tollroad Study

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Board of Control has released an extra $12,000 for a study looking for ways to build a continuous 300-mile turnpike between Cincinnati and Conneaut.

The money released to State Highway Director S. O. Linzell calls for a two-year report. One would be on feasibility of a complete north-south turnpike; the other on such a turnpike with a section of public highway near the center.

Forestry Group Names Trustees

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Forestry Assn., which holds its annual meeting here Friday and Saturday, has announced 10 new members of its 21-member board of trustees.

The new members include John J. Marsh Jr., of Dover, Harris Willis of Washington C. H. and John Zimmerman of Hamilton.

Savings Bond Sales Reach Record High

Ohio sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds during the calendar year 1955 reached a new peacetime record of $369,129,012, a gain of 11.9 percent over 1954.

December sales of just under $33 million were the highest December sales since the end of World War II and were instrumental in Ohio surpassing its 1955 sales quota of $369 million.

In reporting these record sales, Judge William D. Radcliff, chairman, of the Pickaway County Savings Bonds Committee, said E and H Bond sales in the county for December were $143,493, bringing the year's sales to $917,314. The county chairman pointed out that Pickaway County attained 126.8 percent of its 1955 quota.

Nationwide, sales of E and H Bonds topped redemptions by $717 million, the largest net sales since 1940.

TOTAL AMOUNT of E and H Bonds now outstanding has gone over the $40 billion mark with the current-income H Bond showing an excellent gain over 1954.

Fifty-five counties exceeded their yearly quotas with Morgan, Gallia, Coshocton, Noble and Tuscarawas counties leading the state. Leading among the industrial counties were Summit, Stark, Lucas, Franklin and Mahoning.

Man Wants Job Milking Snakes

DALLAS (AP)—An Employment commission interviewer is going to have to change the pet oxide she has been using when there weren't any jobs for persistent job hunters. "All we have left," she would say, "is a job milking rattlesnakes." She used it this week on a man who wouldn't give up. "That's fine," said the man, brightening. "Where is it and how much does it pay? Just what I have been doing in Florida."

Father Of 3 Held In Lima Slaying

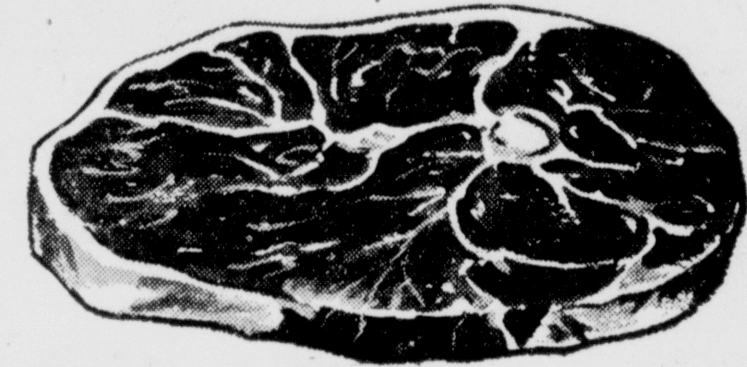

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—William Swearingen, 27-year-old father of three, has been arrested for murder in the fatal shooting of a man during a robbery in Lima, Ohio, Dec. 10, 1954.

Sheriff M. J. Daffin and FBI agents arrested Swearingen last night at the Green Hills Community about 15 miles north of here. A special FBI agent said Swearingen and two other men are charged in the robbery of the G&G Cafe in Lima. John Mooney, a customer, was shot to death during the holdup.

Two warrants against Swearingen were issued in Lima yesterday, one charging him with first degree murder in Mooney's death.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trying to read a president's mind — an old Washington pastime—has become a capital hobby in President Eisenhower's case even when he's specific, as he was in saying he hasn't decided on running again.

It becomes more of a game, and with less purpose, when he's ambiguous, as he was Wednesday on whether Chief Justice Earl Warren should run.

His statement will be interpreted as meaning (A) he closed the door on Warren as a presidential candidate, and (B) that he did no such thing.

Asked at his news conference if he thought it a bad thing for the chief justice to return to politics, he said the obvious: that in this kind of government there should be a separation of powers.

"We shouldn't get too great a confusion between politics and the Supreme Court," he said.

He cited his own example: "The second I was nominated by the Republican party, I resigned from the Army; but the day I left Europe (May 1952) I retired from the Army, and went without pay until nominated."

But Eisenhower did not retire from the Army until he began actively to campaign for the Republican nomination. If Warren began actively to campaign, he'd have to resign from the court too. Public opinion would compel that.

What Eisenhower didn't say was whether he thought it all right for Warren, while still in the court, to let Warren-for-president clubs be formed, let his name be entered in presidential primaries, and not contradict statements by his friends that he'd accept the nomination if the party wanted him.

That's what Eisenhower did while still in the Army and before he returned to this country in mid-1952 to campaign.

So, taking Eisenhower's statement of Wednesday at face value, it might seem he was simply saying that if the candidacy of Warren reached such a point that he'd have to make speeches, he should get off the court.

Warren himself has said he wants no part of the presidency. He war far more emphatic about it than either Eisenhower or Adlai E. Stevenson in the days when they are saying they had no presidential ambitions.

Juvenile Court Fund Backed By Order

LOGAN (AP)—Judge Harley Meyer has ordered Hocking County commissioners to appropriate an additional $2,925 for the use of the county juvenile court or appear Feb. 17 to show cause why they should not.

The "show-cause" writ was issued as a result of a mandamus action in which juvenile authorities sought more operating funds for the court.

Law Library Rule Made By O'Neill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's attorney general ruled today that law library associations receiving public funds must pay for state examinations of their books.

The opinion by Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill went to Summit County Prosecutor Alva J. Russell. The ruling said statute requires state examiners to inspect the accounts of all agencies supported by public funds even though some of them receive additional revenues from private sources.

Such agencies must pay the cost of periodic examinations by the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, the opinion said.

Court Of Appeals Studying Grandview Water Rate Case

COLUMBUS (AP)—The second district court of appeals yesterday took under advisement the Grandview water rate case that has attracted wide interest because of its possible effect on municipalities throughout the state.

Appeals Judge Fred J. Miller, Roscoe G. Hornbeck and Amos Conn heard the arguments, Judge Conn, of Toledo, was sitting by assignment in the illness of Judge William C. Wiseman of Dayton.

There was no immediate indication when a decision might be expected on Grandview's appeal against water rates charged the suburb by the city of Columbus.

Involved in the court action is the question of whether a municipality legally may charge more than 10 per cent above city rates for water supplied customers outside the municipalities. Observers believe that if the courts find a charge greater than 10 per cent above city rates may be imposed on water supplied outside the city, it could put an additional annexation "club" in the hands of municipalities.

One of the issues is whether the state law limiting water charges outside a municipality is within the power of the Ohio General Assembly in view of the Home Rule amendments to the Ohio Constitution in 1912.

Last August, the Franklin County Common Pleas Court declared the state law restriction "unconstitutional and unenforceable" in view of constitutional authority for municipalities to "own and operate public utilities and to contract with such utilities for products and service and to fix the rate therefor."

In September 1954, Columbus, supplying Grandview with water since 1911, began charging the suburb rates more than 10 per cent above the schedule for Columbus consumers.

Climbing Nude Seeking Divorce

ENID, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Ione Weir, who gained headlines four years ago as a tree-climbing nude sleep-walker, filed suit for divorce Wednesday.

She charged her husband, Wesley, with incompatibility and asked for support of their three children.

The blonde, attractive housewife attracted attention when she was found atop a tree in her yard without even a nightgown. She said she was afflicted with sleep walking, mostly when the moon was full.

After the incident, her husband jokingly remarked that he would shackle her to the bedpost to head off any future nocturnal wanderings.

17-Foot Boat Sails Atlantic

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Jean Lacombe, 36, of Paris has reached San Juan after crossing the Atlantic in the smallest sailboat ever to make the trip.

He sailed from the Canary Islands Nov. 15 in a 17-foot boat and reached Puerto Rico in 68 days. He had expected to make the trip in 50 days but was delayed by the winds. He started his voyage from Toulon, France, stopping at Barcelona, Spain, and Las Palmas in the Canaries.

Lacombe had a visa to enter the United States, but it expired during the voyage. He has applied for a renewal.

The Great Mails

A session of Circleville's Hot Stove League, trying to ignore the snow flurries and marking time until baseballs begin to fly again around Ted Lewis Park, recently swapped notes on some of the daffy incidents witnessed in major league parks.

Despite its high-priced dignity, major league baseball has had a wild assortment of gay characters in uniform—the catcher who wanted to run bases wearing his shin-guards; the cold-blooded creature who peevish the umpires on a chilly day by building a bonfire and wrapping himself in a blanket; the guy who needed the arbiters even more by bringing out a lighted candle in hopes the game would be called on account of darkness, and son on, and on.

The National Game's fun-makers have given it some of its most memorable chapters, and—as it was recalled the other day — The Great Duster Mails surely must be considered a candidate if they ever decide to name a king of the diamond wild men.

"The Great Mails", as he proclaimed himself at every opportunity, first gained general notice as a pitcher with the Cleveland Tribe. Far from a clown when he wanted to fog them past the hitters, "The Great" appeared, nevertheless, to become better known for his monkeyshines.

And maybe that's because of the story that preceded him when he came east from the Pacific Coast League.

For many years to come they'll probably hand down the story of the day "The Great" was hurling a tight game and found himself in the classic "spot" in the ninth. Mails' team was leading by one run. There were two out in the last of the ninth, the home team had men on second and third, and the call on the batter had gone to three-and-two.

At this stage, while the stands rocked with delirium, "The Great" stepped off the mound, mopped his brow, and held up a hand for silence. Then, when the screaming subsided a bit, he shouted to one and all:

"I will strike this man out on the next pitch! And I will do it on a fast ball through the heart of the plate!"

It did things to the home-park thousands. Those who heard "The Great's" announcement were enraged to a babbling frenzy. And those who couldn't hear him shouted defiance anyway.

But it mattered nothing to Duster Mails.

In solemn manner he walked to the plate and there faced a batter named Jim Poole.

"Jim", said "The Great", with the quiet manner of a fellow asking for a match, "one of us is going to be a bum after I throw the next pitch. I am The Great Mails, so I cannot afford to be a bum."

"So Jim, old boy, I'm going to strike you out on a fast ball — through the heart of the plate."

With that, "The Great" strode back to the hill, went through the motions, and fired the all-important pitch. It was a fast-ball, through the heart of the plate.

And it's on record that Jim Poole let it burn past him.

"The Great" man had made good.

Mystery Beast

"It didn't look like a rabbit," the Southend housewife explained. "It just seemed to sit on its haunches out there in the back-yard and hold up two little front feet. Its ears weren't long like a rabbit's, and it was fat—sort of bulgy with a little head."

"It was pretty late at night, so I couldn't get a good look."

(Egad! It must be Popsy the Groundhog, at least a week ahead of schedule—and seeing his shadow by the lights of E. Union St.!)

Around Town

We wouldn't for the world want anyone to think we made a real survey, but it just so happens that the best snow man we saw built out of the recent snowfall was one on a porch on W. Mound St., just a snowball toss from Court.

Woooooohhh!

That illustration on how fast next year's Air Force combat fighters can fly is so good it can bear repeating. Here's the way a plane manufacturer tells it:

"If the plane were fired at by a 16-inch naval gun, and if the pilot should happen to see the shell coming, he could avoid it, swing his plane alongside the shell to inspect it, and then fly away from

White Folk Chided For Aiding Negroes

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — May or W. A. Gayle has urged white people to stop giving rides to Negro employees who have been boycotting city buses, with business falling off an estimated 70 percent.

He said the city commission is adopting a get-tough policy on the boycott, staged in protest against segregated seating on the buses. There will be no further efforts to compromise with Negro leaders, he said and added:

"The Negroes are laughing at white people behind their backs, the white people who haul the maids and cooks to and from work. They think it's very funny and amusing that whites who are opposed to the Negro boycott will act as chauffeurs to Negroes."

Interesting Booklet

In answer to a long-standing demand by professional geologists, amateur collectors and the public generally, a book on Ohio fossils is now available from the Division of Geological Survey.

John H. Melvin, chief of the division, said this book was prepared to serve as an introduction to the paleontology of Ohio and is designed for those who have never studied the subject before. The first three chapters serve as a background to the study of fossils.

The seven main chapters of the book describe in non-technical language the commoner fossils found in each geological system in the state. Line drawings, four hundred and thirteen of them, illustrate the main features of the most abundant forms. Both old and new names for a given form are listed. Keys, based on external characters, are provided for most of the groups described.

The most fruitful collecting localities in the state are described. For those who wish to go beyond the first stages of collecting, key references are listed.

The 152 page book is available at 97 cents per copy, plus 3 cents tax for Ohio residents, and can be obtained from:

Baldness 'Cure' Brings Accusation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has accused Leo O. Johnson, of New Orleans of falsely advertising that he has a cure for baldness.

The complaint involved advertisements by the Johnson hair and scalp clinic for a do-it-yourself kit.

The FTC said Johnson has branches at Detroit, Erie, Pa., and Rountown and Canton, Ohio. The complaint alleges that Johnson "contrary to fact" has represented that his method and treatment will permanently eliminate dandruff and itchy or irritated scalp, prevent and overcome baldness, and grow new hair.

Soviet Offers UN Token Payment

GENEVA (AP)—Russia, seeking to resume membership in the United Nations World Health Organization (WHO) after seven years absence, has offered a token payment of 5 per cent of its unpaid debt.

Russia withdrew from WHO in 1949 because it alleged the organization had failed to fulfill its objectives. There is no constitutional provision for withdrawal so Russia theoretically owes $4 million for the years of its absence.

BIRTHDAY OF A POET

JANUARY 25 was the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, the earliest troubadour of the common people. Not only was he an outstanding vernacular poet, but a sympathetic interpreter of the moods of insignificant creatures.

Because of promiscuous love affairs ascribed to a temperamental nature he was given an ecclesiastical reprimand which resulted in his becoming a free thinker and periodical drinker. But the public finally forgave and favored him, after publication of his first book of poetry in 1786 when he was 27 years of age.

In his youth Burns worked on a farm his father rented, an arduous toil by which his health was undermined. While yet frail he tried several other ways to make a living, including "flax dressing" and serving as an "exciseman," or collector of duties, but never abandoning his convivial habits or songwriting.

With all his privations, reversals and rebuffs of fortune, Burns was never given to melancholy. According to his self-analysis, he was a man of pride and passion. Some friend once said of him that "life at its grimmest was fun to Bobby Burns."

He wrote rapturously of love, hilariously of inebriation, dramatically of humble heroes and prolifically of things the masses understood. There were those who looked askance at the jovial minstrel who sang to suit or shock his hearers.

It was told after he died in his 37th year that drunkenness had caused his demise. Painsstaking biographers have denied this story and claim that he had never entirely recovered from a heart strain that developed during farm work in his boyhood. He was a great poet, a lyrical genius and a friend of "the poor who are always with us."

AIR AGE MATURES

FOR THE FIRST TIME air passenger traffic in 1955 exceeded long haul bus traffic. The year before it outdistanced rail coach travel.

In 1955 nearly 20 million passenger miles were flown by the nation's scheduled airlines, according to Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association. Non-scheduled airlines flew 1.5 million miles, according to H. B. Johnson, president of the Aircoach Transport Association. Total air passenger miles flown in 1955 registered an increase of more than 19 per cent over the mileage of 1954.

It's apparent from these figures that air passenger facilities are becoming as important as rail or bus connections as a factor in community development.

BOOSTING THE OCTANE

STEPPING UP of octane rating of gasoline, which has been made necessary by increase in automobile engine compression, has been going on ever since the first automobile was built, or at least since World War I. But 1955 will bring another great boost.

Several midium-priced cars, compression of which has been kept low enough to give maximum ping-less performance with ordinary gasoline, have joined the parade to higher compression, premium gasoline and lightning performance.

There is revived talk of 100 octane premium gasoline.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

As I lie here, looking at a beige ceiling, asking myself questions which only I can answer, I can well understand why Ike Eisenhower could not tell the anxious Republicans whether he would be their candidate. Cardiacs are curious people.

They have had a bump not only to their heart but to their ego. In the bookkeeping of life, each cardiac knows that he might have been counted out. No one can explain to him why his case is moderate or mild and not severe.

So he lies immobilized, taken from all his importance and greatness. These heart doctors are pretty tough; they do not bargain because bad judgment means death. Rest, sedation, no telephones, no visitors; in some cases, they do not even permit newspapers or the radio.

So one thinks, and curiously most of his thinking is about himself. The cardiac, particularly a coronary, comes out of this devotion to himself a pretty chastened man. The items stack up on both sides of the ledger. It is easy to tell a huge audience what a great man you are, but what can you say to yourself, when you are all alone, and the doctor has just told you that the scar can be widened by a physical or emotional upset. Who is greater, the patient or the hypodermic needle?

The Republicans would like Ike to run because they believe that he can lead them to another victory. But his problem is that six-week period of immobilization in Denver when every day, for hours he lay on a bed, with only a nurse in the room, with his wife a limited visitor and instructed to say nothing to move him emotionally.

As his intellect broke through the sedation, he was like every other coronary — the question that was never answered was, how much damage has the attack done? It was not answered to his satisfaction, even if the doctors smile when they said whatever it was they said. The patient always feels that the doctor cannot possibly know, that he is hoping for the best.

Ike Eisenhower would undoubtedly like to please the Republicans, particularly the businessmen, who have done so much for him. He would like to run again and then he could leave administration to Sherman Adams and philosophy to his brother, Milton.

After all, a general is accustomed to passing orders down the line. But this illness makes everything very tough because moral problems are generated by it. No man comes close to death without being charred by it. Things that seemed cute and smart do not look so good.

The word, duty, takes on a meaning and you have to answer, duty to whom? To God? To country? To family? To self? To a group of scheming politicians who apportion whatever spoils arise from a situation? Duty to whom?

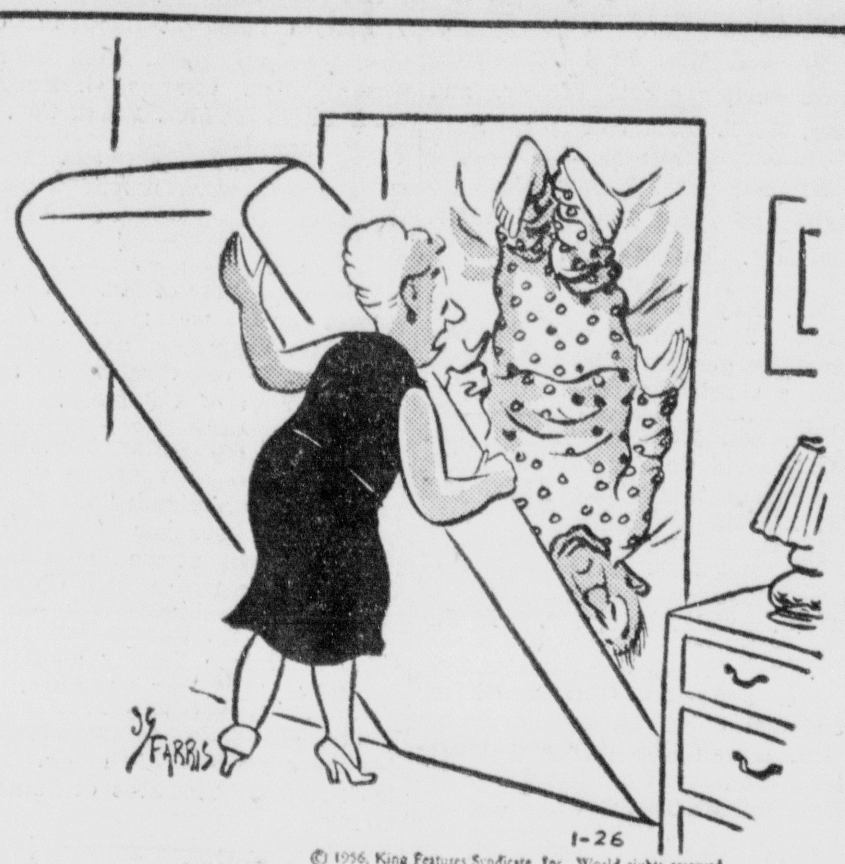

It is very upsetting to get this kind of sickness. A broken leg can be mended; but here it is to be or not to be and it might have been written not to be. It is an illness which must give even the churl a sense of history, if nothing else, his own history. Certainly Ike got more out of his American life than his parents could have bargained for; I certainly did. So the ledger is not balanced; there are obligations to pay off, profound obligations.

Does one pay off such debts by winning an election for a political party? Maybe yes! I do not lie here in judgment of any man; I have enough difficulty squaring my own accounts. Still I ask: would it be a repayment of Ike Eisenhower's great debt to America to win the 1956 Election for the Republican Party even if he knows in his heart that he cannot carry the enormous load of the Presidency? I cannot answer that question. Only he can.

DIET AND HEALTH

A Well-Balanced Diet For A Lady-In-Waiting

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IT is always important to eat the right foods in the right amounts. But this becomes doubly important for the expectant mother.

You will seldom gain weight during the first three months of pregnancy. Thereafter, the monthly gain should not average more than three and one-half pounds.

Some doctors say even this is too much for some women, but let your own doctor decide for you. Meals must not be too large, but they must be nutritious.

Suggested Foods

As for the food you should and should not have, here are some suggestions. Make sure you get the following every day:

At least one-half cup of yellow and green vegetables. Frequently some of these should be eaten raw.

At least one serving of oranges, tomatoes or grapefruit. This means one medium-sized orange, half a grapefruit, one cup of citrus fruit juice.

One or more servings of potatoes.

At least one-half cup of other fruits and vegetables.

One or more eggs and at least a four-ounce serving of meat, poultry or fish.

One quart of milk. Some of this may be used in cooking. Cheese can be substituted for some of your milk requirements.

Three or more servings of enriched or whole grain bread or whole grain or restored cereal.

One to two tablespoons of butter or fortified margarine.

Enough fish and liver oils to supply from 400 to 800 International Units of Vitamin D.

To Be Avoided

You should avoid the following: Foods which may create gas such as sweet potatoes, cabbage and dried beans.

Foods which are digested slowly such as fat pork, frankfurters, bologna, rich gravies, pickles, mayonnaise and pie.

Too much food rich in sugar and starch such as candy, cake and pie.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

D. G.: What would cause my hips to ache and what would you advise for relief?

Answer: Pain in the hips may come from a variety of causes, such as infection, injury, or from some disorder affecting the circulation. Arthritis is a frequent cause.

It is advisable that you have a careful study made by your physician to determine the cause; then he will prescribe proper treatment.

A Doctor in the Family

SYNOPSIS
This is a story of love and conflict between a doctor and his family. The doctor, Alan, is a successful man, but his family life is a constant struggle. His wife, Linda, is a strong-willed woman who often clashes with him. Their children, John and Margaret, are also part of the family drama. The story explores the complexities of family relationships and the challenges of being a doctor.

CHAPTER TWELVE

"I would suggest that you check up on me and my hospital — our rating," Alan said to Captain Blake. "You'd feel better about any opinion I'd have after examining your wife. I think time is an element, but so is your peace of mind."

There was a little more talk, and the doctors elected to walk as far as the hospital. It was about four blocks and the rain had resolved into a mist.

"Poor devil," said Alan, as he and Ernst got into their way.

"Yes, I'd say complete idiocy, wouldn't you?"

"Oh, perhaps it's that bad."

"She knows nothing, feels nothing. Did you notice her hands? The collapsed thumb? She would be better off dead."

"But she is not dead," protested his superior.

"And of course euthanasia . . ."

"I do not practice it," snapped Alan.

"Can you always avoid its consideration?"

"In a case like this, I find myself more curious to know if Mrs. Blake might be helped."

"You would operate then?"

"If there is any chance of survival and improvement — yes. Certainly."

"But, look, Doctor . . ." Still a block from the hospital they had paused before crossing the highway.

"In this case, I think a doctor might be excused if he would not — what are the words? — if he would not bother. The husband seems — er — reconciled. Your sister is a lovely woman. And, as you explained to me, you would like to see her happy."

"Yes," Alan agreed, "I did say that." Then he looked at his companion, at the fine profile beneath the brim of his smartly dipped black hat. "You know," he said, in the tone of discovery, "I would have said you were a doctor to give little consideration to circumstances surrounding a surgical case, while I would be the one to consider the whole picture. Yet, in this —"

Dr. Ernst shrugged. "I would only prefer to see a romantic picture over one of tragedy. It would perhaps be better for both of us."

Linda was seated before the fire, reading, but she rose at once and came toward him.

He gave her the rose, his eyes shining. "I always bring my wife flowers on our wedding anniversary," he told her. She laughed and returned his kiss.

Her hair was brushed loosely about her face, and she wore a quilted satin robe of the same purplish blue as her eyes. Alan held her away, and looked at her, loving his wife, and wishing, almost desperately, that he was not so damn busy, that he did not, as today, spend two-thirds of his time away from her.

He gave her the rose, his eyes shining. "I always bring my wife flowers on our wedding anniversary," he told her. She laughed and returned his kiss.

With the image of Fern Blake still fresh in his memory, he held her close, murmuring something about life being short, and full of hazards; he sighed. "We have to make each day count," he said wistfully.

Linda winced. The whole day behind her had been spent in realizing that she'd been married for ten years, that she had no child. And now — if Alan meant that he too realized, and regretted — she looked down at the rose which he had brought her, then up into his face. "Has something happened?" she asked.

The trader, embarrassed, explained. "Two years ago I got married. Last year we had our first child. All those extra expenses and mouths to feed."

to consider only the medical problem."

"That consideration alone will keep us busy," Alan assented. "Good night, Doctor — I'll go along home."

"Home" was at the far end of this same street, a broad avenue with tall trees at the hospital end, blocks of business establishments, the bank, the post office, the Supermarket and Penney's. He passed the Episcopal church, smothered in ivy, with tall trees again in evidence; another block of homes, and then he was at the gates of the Green. River fog swirled white about the lamps, Alan's own frosted breath rising as if he were propelled by steam.

The mistiness reminded him of his little-boyhood, when ice still had been out from the pond, and stored in the old icehouse. Smiling, the tall dark man walked on up the avenue, his memory letting him fairly smell the old brick building, the damp sawdust and wet straw, and see the dark gleaming ice buried there. He and young Jacob had often been set the task of getting the ice out.

Chuckling, Alan let himself into the big house. The party had disbanded. The main rooms were dark. Only the night lamp burned in the hall. Alan hung his damp coat and his misty-headed hat in the closet, looked down regretfully at the stains upon his fine black shoes. He went over to the console and selected a heavy-headed rose from the vase there. With the flower in his hand, he went up the stairs two at a time, his long limbs moving like pistons, and put both hand and shoulder against the white panel of the bedroom door.

Linda was seated before the fire, reading, but she rose at once and came toward him.

Linda was seated before the fire, reading, but she rose at once and came toward him.

He gave her the rose, his eyes shining. "I always bring my wife flowers on our wedding anniversary," he told her. She laughed and returned his kiss.

With the image of Fern Blake still fresh in his memory, he held her close, murmuring something about life being short, and full of hazards; he sighed. "We have to make each day count," he said wistfully.

Linda winced. The whole day behind her had been spent in realizing that she'd been married for ten years, that she had no child. And now — if Alan meant that he too realized, and regretted — she looked down at the rose which he had brought her, then up into his face. "Has something happened?" she asked.

Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority Initiates 4 Pledges At Meet

Group Has Dinner Following Initiation

Four pledges were admitted in the Beta Kappa Chapter of the Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority during a formal initiation held Wednesday evening in the Mecca Restaurant dining room.

Initiated were: Mrs. John Hamilton, Miss Joan Kerr, Mrs. Carl Rihl, and Mrs. Gerald Easter.

The purpose of the Sorority and its ideas of love, friendship and charity were explained to the new members. The initiates then repeated the Sorority pledge.

Following the initiation, Miss Barbara Caskey gave a prayer. A steak dinner was then served to all members. Favors that were presented to each were corsages of the sorority colors, blue and gold.

The president, Mrs. Blen Stevenson, opened the program by giving the welcome to the new members. Miss Kerr gave the response.

Miss Martha Barthelmas read a poem about the violet, which is the sorority flower.

Each new member wrote an original verse about an old member. Mrs. Robert Moon read a poem, "House of Friendship."

The program was closed with a candle-light service. Members sang the candle-light song and lighted each sister's candle.

Those present besides the new members were: Mrs. Stevenson, Miss Caskey, Miss Barthelmas, Mrs. Robert Walker, Miss Margaret Goode, Mrs. William Synder, Mrs. Moon and Mrs. William Brown.

Couple To Marry In Early Spring

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hammond of Mobile, Ala., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Gene Ann to Lyn E. Ballard of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Ballard of Tallon.

The wedding will be an event of early Spring in the Dauphin Way Baptist Church.

Pirate Playlet Given By Scouts At Pack Meeting

A playlet, "Pirates and Penitence" was presented by Den 1 at the Wednesday meeting of Cub Scout Pack 205. The meeting, held in the Presbyterian Church, was opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

For the playlet, the boys had made scenery consisting of a pirate ship, a native village and an oriental temple. The theme of the story was the repentance of a group of pirates due to the influence of a native witch doctor.

Mrs. Richard Bowers narrated the story while the boys acted it out. The actors were Garry Betts, Larry Betts, Stephen Bowers, Wayne Hickey, Gene Smith, Gary Stewart, David Thomas, and Stephen Weiler. Mrs. Verneal Thomas and Mrs. Vernon Weiler directed the skit.

About 55 persons attended the pack meeting. Den 1 was again awarded the club-parent attendance trophy. Den 4 was a close runner-up.

After inspection, Mr. Dick Bowers showed an educational film of the life of a Swiss Family and a comedy about three bear cubs.

Gary Lee Hughes and Ronald Seward are new Pack members.

Announcement was made of the roundtable meeting to be held in the social rooms of the Presbyterian Church next Thursday. All Pickaway County Scouts are urged to attend.

Pack 205 plans to celebrate the 46th anniversary of scouting with a carry-in Blue and Gold Banquet, Church attendance on Scout Sunday, and a handicraft display in a downtown store window.

Den 2 under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Helwagen and Mrs. Raymond Arledge will present the program at the March Pack meeting.

When a recipe calls for "a pinch" or "a few grains" of a seasoning, it's best to add less than one-eighth teaspoon.

Chester Dyke Addresses Saltcreek PTO Members

Chester Dyke was the principal speaker at the January meeting of the Saltcreek Parent-Teachers Organization meeting held in the school Tuesday evening. He was introduced by Walter Haney superintendent of the school. Mr. Dyke spoke briefly on the importance of knowing what to do when there is an accident either at home or on the highway.

He illustrated his remarks with a film which showed how one life was saved and another lost in similar accidents because in one case the first people to arrive at the scene knew how to apply first aid while in the other case no one knew what to do and the little they did, further endangered the victim's chances for recovery.

Mr. Dyke also showed a film dealing with civilian defense in which people were warned not to run in panic from atomic attack, but to be prepared to face it at home.

The speaker told something of the warning system which has been set up here and of efforts which are being made to educate people for preparedness in case of attack.

During the business session which preceded the program a finance committee report was made by its chairman, Sterling Poling.

The committee recommended two projects, both of which were approved. The first is to be a sales tax campaign, with each grade in the school competing for cash prizes. In charge of this project will be Mrs. Donald Hardman, Mrs. Joseph Jenkins, and Mrs. Bernard Van Fossen.

The second project will be an auction sale similar to the one conducted last year by the group. March 3, was the date set for this sale.

The president, Mrs. Clarence Maxson named Mr. Poling,

George Maxson and Lloyd Spung as general committee members for the sale.

Mr. Harold Strous will handle advertising and publicity and Mrs. Joseph Valentine, Mrs. Fred Fethenrolf and Mrs. Chester McDaniel will handle the food sale for the auction. Other committees are to be named later.

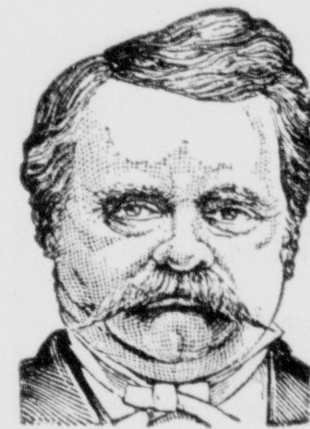

Miss Donna Hardman served as mistress of ceremonies for the program which included music furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Roderick Shaw.

LOSES 34 LBS.

LOVELAND, OHIO—"Before I started taking Rennie Concentrate I felt so sluggish, tired and lifeless that I could hardly find the energy to do my work. Since I have been taking Rennie I have lost 34 lbs. and I am full of pep and vitality," writes Mrs. E. Anderson, R. 4, Box 343, Loveland, O. "Now Rennie helps me to keep my girlish figure."

Ask your druggist for 4 ounces of liquid RENNEL Concentrate. You'll never know a hungry moment while reducing with RENNEL.

"Ward" Skinner Quit Wishing!!

Whenever Ward Skinner used to pass a wishing well . . . he'd drop in some pennies and make a wish.

(Probably wishing for some new customers.)

But Ward finally wised up and decided that instead of dropping pennies into a wishing well . . . he'd drop them into his customers' pockets.

It worked too . . . Ward has really been getting new customers since he started dropping pennies into their pockets by offering wow values like these:

Vendors Given Reminder On Tax Returns

All persons having Ohio vendors' licenses will be required to file their next semi-annual sales tax returns by next Tuesday for the period July 1 to December 31, 1955, according to announcement by the Department of Taxation, Division of Sales and Highway Use Taxes.

Returns mailed to the state treasurer should be postmarked not later than January 31 to avoid a $1 a day charge for delinquent filing.

To assist vendors with these returns, the Department of Taxation has arranged to have an examiner or examiners stationed at the Pickaway County courthouse next Monday and Tuesday.

Vendors seeking assistance from examiners will be required to present all records necessary to substantiate the figures to be reported, such as a copy of their return for the previous period, a record of gross and exempt sales and a record of taxable sales of 41 cents or over for the period July 1 to December 31, 1955.

VENDORS WILL also be required to bring copies of their purchase orders showing the amounts of stamps purchased during the last half of 1955.

Vendors are no longer required to have sales tax returns sworn to before a notary public or a representative of the Department of Taxation. The vendor, however, is required to sign the declaration on the return that the information given is true.

When completed, all returns must be filed with or mailed to the Treasurer of State, P. O. Box 1799, Columbus, Ohio. If a deficiency is shown on the vendor's return, remittance in the amount of tax due should accompany the return, made payable to the Treasurer of State, either by check, draft or money order.

Traffic Fatality Results In State Showing Continuous Increase

Pickaway county escaped the month of November without a traffic fatality. But the rest of the state was not so fortunate, according to a report by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

November traffic deaths in the state represented a 27 percent increase over fatalities in the same month of 1954. In Pickaway County, there were two traffic deaths in November of 1954.

The 11-month summary of Ohio traffic accidents showed that 198 persons lost their lives in traffic during November of 1955. This compares with 156 fatalities in November of 1954.

For 11 months of 1955, traffic deaths in Ohio now stand at 1,841, an increase of 10 per cent over the 1,680 deaths for the same period of 1954. Of the 1,841 fatalities, 352 were pedestrians. The report, compiled by the highway safety statistical division, also estimated that from all indications, Ohio's 1955 traffic death toll will reach well informed on the increasing accident trend throughout the country, yet their driving and walking attitudes and practices remain years-out-of-date. They have not kept pace with today's traffic situation."

Referring to the great advancements made in road and vehicle improvements, Felty said that faulty driver attitude continues to be the largest accident factor, as determined by numerous statistical studies. He said that ever increasing use of our streets and highways demands constant caution and safety consciousness of every person who drives or walks.

"To believe one can 'get away with' breaking traffic laws, or to take chances in heavy traffic with an unsafe vehicle is foolhardy, and statistics prove it dangerously out-moded," he added.

During November of 1955, injuries totalled 6,370, a reduction of more than 1,400 as compared with the 7,784 injuries which occurred in the same month of 1954. However, an over-all increase of 12 percent was noted for the first 11 months of 1955, with 63,469 injuries reported.

Individual traffic accidents occurring in the 11-month period numbered 126,368. At the end of the same period in 1954, the total was 110,299 mishaps. Property damage, which was $4.7 million in November, may reach $50 million for the entire year of 1955, the report stated.

Estimated motor vehicle mileage traveled in Ohio was 31.4 billion miles for the first 11 months of 1955, an increase of more than two billion miles over the same period in 1954. Ohio's death rate, computed in deaths per 100 million vehicle-miles, was 5.9.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife and I are just about at our wits' end; and are writing to you as a last hope. Our daughter Jane, 18, attends high school in town, and I must admit is extremely pretty and physically developed past all the girls in her crowd.

Until recently she was well satisfied with school. Then she got interested in dramatics and was a member of the cast in the school play last fall. This play was put on near a neighboring college and after playing a "vamp" role on the stage, Jane started dating some of the college boys.

We didn't want her dating these boys; and we objected to one in particular, a member of the senior class. But she insisted, even sneaking out to meet him secretly, when we had kept her in. Her mother and I, having always been honest, were shocked to find this out.

Now she is keeping late hours and wearing very daring clothes that make her look much too old. Recently we decided to bring things into the open, as she was so insistent. So we allowed her to go to a fraternity party, and she came home at 5 a. m. in a drunken stupor. Her mother and I have been frantic since. What can we do with this unmanageable girl, to bring her to her senses, and get her to mind us?

Jane calls us "old timers" and is talking of quitting school to get married. But the minister's wife tells my wife that the boy is already engaged to a girl in another town.

DEAR B.D.: It sounds as if Jane had just discovered sex, and is going a bit berserk, in greenhorn unpreparedness to cope intelligently with the phenomena of sexual feeling, in herself and beaux. Even from the viewpoint of youthful sophistication by which I mean,

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

By careful shopping, you should be able to find special prices on just about any kind of meat you want for this weekend.

A survey shows that some of the nation's food stores will feature chuck roast for economy and others will trim prices on prime ribs for sumptuous eating. There'll be specials, too, on sirloin steaks.

Loins of pork will be widely featured, but you can look for higher prices on pork next week because hog quotations have risen. In fact, one large chain is posting increases of six cents a pound this week on center cut pork chops.

Frying chickens will cost about the same as a week ago in most areas but will be higher elsewhere.

Egg prices are going down. Reductions of two to four cents a dozen on large grade A whites will be fairly common.

Among vegetables described as "moderately priced" are cauliflower, broccoli, cucumbers, peppers, beets, beans, squash, and carrots.

Good value in fruit is to be had in limes, oranges, grapefruit, tangerines although they're a little higher, emperor grapes and apples.

Nomination Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster nominations sent to the Senate yesterday by the White House included Clark Wickensimer, Washington, C. H., for W. E. Passmore, deceased.

Without Nagging Backache
Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling. If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills...get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

Silage Show Awards Given At Conference

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Awards to winners of the annual silage show at the Ohio Federation of Soil Conservation Districts were presented yesterday by A. W. Marion, state director of natural resources.

First place winners in six classes were named by Dr. Charles F. Rogers of the agronomy department, Ohio Agriculture Experiment Station. The silages were judged on the basis of palatability, moistness and feed value.

The winners were:
Grass only: Untreated—E. D. Humphrey, Williamsfield; treated—James Osborne, Chardon.

Legume: Untreated—Frank Solars, Washington Court House; treated—Robert B. Tunis, Zanesville.

Mixed legume—grass: Untreated—1, Orland Layman, Fresno; 2, James Phillips, Napoleon; 3, Russell Sayre, Sidney; 4, Dee D. Dunkle, McConnelsville; 5, John Steenrod, Jackson Center.

Mixed legume—grass: Treated—1, Edwin McChain, Upper Sandusky; 2, Ed Hardin, Marysville; 3, Elwin Adams, Huntsburg.

2,000 Jobs Seen In Aluminum Plant

CLARINGTON, Ohio (AP)—A 90 million dollar aluminum plant near here should employ about 2,000 persons after initial construction, an executive of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. says.

T. Carter Dye of New York, executive assistant to the executive vice president, told some 600 Monroe County residents at a gathering last night that the annual payroll from the first three units should be from five to six million dollars.

"We have an area here on which it is possible to triple or even quadruple facilities already planned," Dye said.

"It will be 30 to 45 days at the earliest before construction starts," he added.

The most nutritious diet has color, with emphasis on orange, green and brown. As we plan our shopping, let's not forget that "it's the color that counts", and that this is the month to revive or strengthen enthusiasm for the orange member of the Vitamin C family.

Of all the citrus fruits, oranges rate top billing as a source of good health is needed daily, as the human body does not store Vitamin C to any appreciable extent.

Most of us can remember when oranges were a treat we found in our Christmas stockings—or a once-a-year item in many homes. Now they are available the year 'round! However, this is the time of the year when prices are especially attractive, particularly to the weight-conscious homemaker because of their low calorie content.

There are many roles which the orange can play in the daily pattern of eating: pudding, pie, tarts, fritters, omelets, souffles, doughnuts, cake, candy, nogs, relishes, Ambrosia, turkey basting or flavoring for the gravy, etc.

FOR EATING convenience, in the raw state, oranges can be prepared in slices, wedges or "natural" sections. A real orange lover may eat the fruit skin and all and relish in the sharp and nutritious tang provided by the rind itself! By eating this fruit whole, one gets all the good that nature puts into it.

Protopectins, the newly realized health factor in oranges, are found chiefly in the whole orange and only to a very small extent in the juice. So—if one must peel, peel for nutrition and leave as much of the white membrane as possible clinging to the fruit.

Protopectins are complex carbohydrates which, during digestion, are not broken down to sugar. They create a better intestinal environment, which makes for improved digestive function, and enable the organism to make better use of non-caloric nutrients, such as vitamins and minerals, without leading to a weight gain.

Consumer food marketing specialist Chester E. Swank, at Ohio State University, reminds us that without enough Vitamin C: the gums get tender and bleed easily, joints swell and hurt and muscles weaken. Nutritionists say that an eight-ounce glass of orange juice will provide the normal daily requirement of Vitamin C.

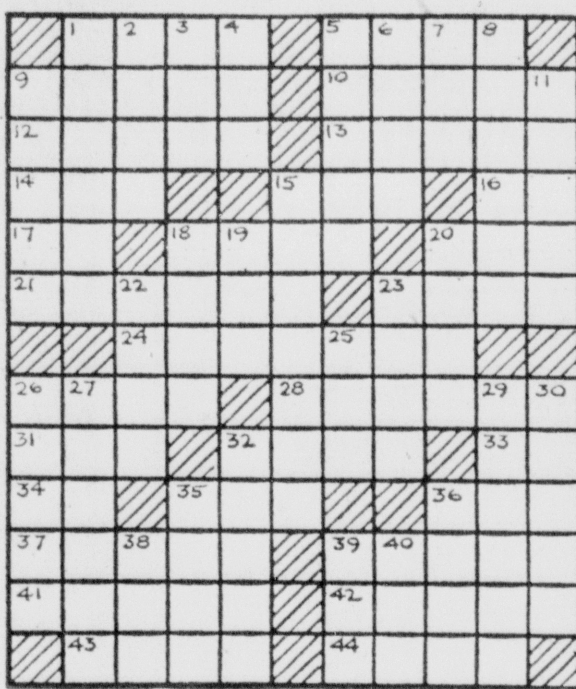

In addition, oranges provide some thiamine, calcium, iron and phosphorus. The yellow or orange color is a sign of Vitamin A.

MORE THAN 200 varieties of oranges are produced in the United States. Florida and California

Fatal Heart Siege Follows Accident

LEBANON (AP)—Thomas E. Hillman, 52, of Mansfield was involved in only a minor traffic accident near Mason yesterday but he died of a heart attack just as state highway patrolman Frank Wyatt arrived on the scene.

Wyatt said Hillman, accompanied by his wife, Bessie, 49, and their daughter, Dorothy, 25, was driving a car which was in collision with an automobile driven by Everett Miller, 58, of Mason.

Bermudan Plans To Stay On Island

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Alexander Stuart Outerbridge, 34, who married Joyce Wallace, 32, Negro night club singer, says he will not leave the island so long as he can make a living here.

Outerbridge himself is a member of one of Bermuda's oldest families which first settled here in the 17th century. He is the great grandson of Confederate Gen. J. E. B. Stuart.

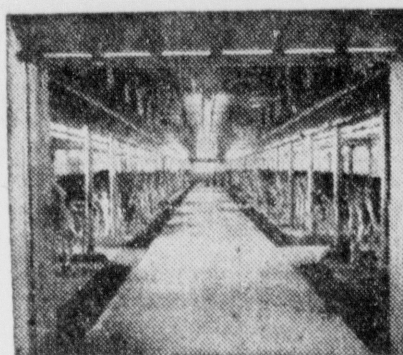

Since the wedding he has been expelled from the Bermuda Golf Club, the Mid-Ocean Golf Club and the St. George's Dinghy Club.

Man Indicted In Woman's Death

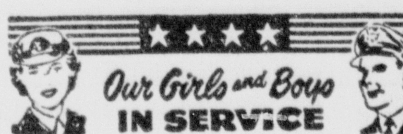

IRONTON (AP)—The grand jury here has indicted a Columbus man for manslaughter in the death of Myrtle Isabelle Layne, 27, whose nude body was found near Athalia Jan. 12.

Indicted was Harmon Potter, 21, an employee of the Columbus State Hospital, who told Sheriff Carl E. Rose he and Miss Layne had been drinking and he did not recall exactly what happened, but he said he believed he was responsible.

Surveys Needed On Water Supply

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill says there is little hope for revision of Ohio's water laws until surveys can be made on which to base action.

The attorney general yesterday told the 13th annual meeting of the Ohio Federation of Soil Conservation Districts that Ohio needs a comprehensive, intelligent engineering survey of its water supply.

But, the attorney general said the state still has a long way to go in eliminating pollution from its streams and described Ohio's water laws as archaic.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

Ben Hanby was a live-wire, but very impressionable youngster. When only six years old, he began his colorful career, standing on a cracker box at a work table, folding Telescopes, as they came from the small Washington Hand Press, operated by his father in the little printing office at the corner of Court and High.

So energetic was he that at the age of 10, he was made Carrier and Solicitor of the publishing company. Celebrating his promotion, his paper printed, on January 11, 1843, a poem of 125 lines, beginning—"Annual Address of the Carrier—To Patrons of the Religious Telescope, by Benjamin Hanby, Carrier."

Ben was overjoyed with his new job, for it let him out of the shop twice a month and sent him racing over the country on horseback, a sport he dearly loved. His route out of Circleville covered a lot of territory, but he was never alone, for as he rode he was always singing.

When the country people heard a galloping horse and a singing boy, they would always say—"Here comes Ben!" Ben was all business when dealing with his subscribers—neither excuse nor promise could induce him to leave a Telescope without first seeing the subscriber's money. For 10 years—(1839-1849)—Ben was the Carrier of the Telescope.

EVEN AFTER his father had resigned from editorial work in 1845 to become a Bishop, and had moved back the Rushville, Ben regularly came to Circleville twice a month to continue his work as folder and carrier and to do other work in the printing office that would earn some extra pennies, for he was planning and saving to make a very important investment—to buy a flute.

When he was only 14, he had saved enough for the transaction. His flute was the pride of his life—a mahogany one, with ivory mountings and German silver keys.

It was his constant company, always within reach on his work bench or in his saddle bags, ready for some relaxation along the road, when delivering papers through the country. He was self-taught and when he entered Otterbein College, in 1849, he was an excellent flutist. Ben's beloved flute is now a priceless exhibition in the Hanby House in Westerville.

But Ben's greatest gift was that of song. He sang when he played and when he worked, and, in his earliest days, he also sang in Sunday School and in the Church choir. Buoyant, fun-loving and gifted with a fine voice, he sang through 33 short years of his life. Were it not for this rare gift, his life story might never have been told.

His first school was in Circleville, starting at the age of six. His father saw to it that his son's work in the Telescope office in no way interfered with his schooling. Ben enjoyed his schooldays, though records reveal that more than once, he got in trouble with his teachers. "My early teachers came from Ireland" he wrote.

"The land they left behind them, but their ire they brought along. They whipped by platoons! I was given the multiplication table on Friday and on the following Monday morning, I was compelled to repeat it from beginning to end and receive a blow with a ferule for every mistake."

BEN WAS of too gentle nature to easily adapt himself to the ways of the pioneer schoolmasters. Yet he wrote that it was the fun he had and the fellowships he formed with his schoolmates in Circleville, which made a lasting impression on his life. Who can evaluate those 10 impressionable years—from six to sixteen—spent in school, Church and shop, right here in Circleville?

His work in the Telescope office gave him a taste for that line of work and in less than four months after leaving Circleville, he started a hand-written paper of his own. He was the founder of the first news sheet at Otterbein College—the "Star of Otterbein University"—December 22, 1849, Volume I. But it was short-lived, due to lack of funds, no equipment and not enough spare time, for Ben was working his way through school. But his idea lived on—it lives today in the current periodical of Otterbein, the "Tan and Cardinal."

In 1841, his father answered to a "call"—for so long close to his heart was the call of the Underground, which he operated in cooperation with Rev. I. L. Buchwalter, Circleville's United Brethren minister, Phillip Doddridge, a wealthy merchant of the town, and a man named Stanup.

In this particular case, Circleville was greatly excited over posters displayed in many places, offering rewards for the capture of three fugitive slaves that had been traced to the town, then lost sight of.

The three were hidden in the Doddridge attic, and through prompt action of Hanby and Buchwalter, were safely smuggled out of town and on their way to freedom. Though Ben was very young, he understood the "underground" and, when his father was engaged in his perilous work, he realized it was his duty to faithfully stand by his mother at home.

In the spring of 1842, there came another "call," which hurried his father back to Rushville to find a young runaway slave, Joseph Selby, in his harness shop, and very ill. With the help of Dr. Simon Hyde, a coworker, the boy was carried to William Hanby's house, in which some of his relatives were living.

THE TWO men gave the young negro lad every attention possible, as though he were their own, and when he died, they gave him a Christian burial in a little cemetery nearby. As young Selby lay dying, he told the story of his Nelly Gray. Reverend Hanby told the story to his family when he got back to Circleville.

Tender-hearted Ben could never forget this story and it was this which inspired the immortal ballad—"Darling Nelly Gray," written when Ben was going to Otterbein College. From then on, Ben Hanby's pen never rested.

He wrote some 80 songs and hymns, 40 hymns for children and 20 inspirational songs. Of these, five have served the course of history.

"Nelly Gray" called the "Uncle Tom's Cabin of Song"; "The Reveller's Chorus," a temperance song; "Ole Shady," a contraband song, made famous by a contraband slave, when he sang it at the surrender of Vicksburg to the Northern soldiers in 1863; "Terrible Tough," inspired by Governor Brough's call for Hundred Day Volunteers in 1864, and became a powerful recruiting song for the Union cause; "Who is He in Yonder Stall" a hymn for children and now found in hymnals of missions and churches on every continent of the world.

In Scotland, it is held a classic. As late as 1938, this hymn was chosen for the "Book of Praise", the hymnal of the Church of England. From thousands of sacred songs—Catholic, Protestant and Jewish—it was chosen by eminent hymnologists and given a place with the great hymns of the ages.

NOW, CAN you see why the Hanby biographer was so amazed, when he learned that Circleville hadn't the least interest in sharing the glory and fame of Benpamin Hanby—leaving Rushville and Westerville have it all?

We wonder—is it always going to be like that, not only with the Hanby story, but with the many other distinguished traditions of Old Roundtown?

More Rolling Adjustments Being Watched

Many Businesses Push On To New Peaks As Others Pause In Rush

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (P)—President Eisenhower indicates that business may be in for another of its "rolling adjustments". This phrase means that while some industries have spurred to the summit and are now rolling back for a breather, others will continue to roll forward to new peaks.

Many businessmen are out this week with predictions that their firms are still in the rolling forward stage. And others are saying that if they are due for a rolling adjustment backward that time is still some months away.

Steel mills have been setting new records for output so far this month, apparently unaffected by the cutback in auto production.

Republic Steel predicts it will continue on a capacity production schedule for at least six months more. Pittsburgh Steel says its capacity schedule should continue for at least nine months. Many in the industry expect Bethlehem Steel to make a similar cheerful prediction late today.

Copper fabricators note a pickup in new orders recently, after a lull. Demand has returned to the high level of last September and October.

The National Machine Tool Builders Assn., reports in Cleveland that shipments of its members are expected to rise for the next few months. It says they now have unfilled orders which assure 7½ months of production at current schedules. This is the highest backlog in two years.

For the utilities the outlook, both short-term and long-term, still is very bright. Industrial activity through the cold months seems sure to be high enough to boost electric power consumption. And use of electricity is expected by homeowners this summer.

Business prospects look so good to the Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago that it has just raised its sights on what it'll need in the future. It now plans to spend 120 million dollars more in 1936 for expansion than it announced only a short time ago. This would bring the year's total to 600 million.

Credit demands are holding high, and showing no signs of abating. So the nation's banks, except perhaps in the farming areas, look for higher earnings, at least in the first half of the year.

This nation's trade with the rest of the world is also expected to rise to new record levels this year. The balance of payments group of the National Foreign Trade Council predicts that American companies will raise their exports of merchandise by 600 million dollars this year to a new record of 714,700,000,000. At the same time, the nation's importers are expected to bring in 400 million dollars more for a new record import total of $1,900,000,000.

Two of the rolling adjustments the President mentioned are the slowdown in auto sales and home building.

Some builders have predicted as much as a 10 per cent drop in new home starts. But Washington looks for a mild dip. And mortgage finance executives assure the Chicago meeting of the National Assn. of Home Builders that there will be plenty of mortgage credit available.

In the auto industry cutbacks of 12 to 15 per cent have been forecast. But the head of one of the smaller companies — James J. Nance, president of Studebaker-Packard Corp. — says auto output still could equal 1935's record. And General Motors has just closed its Motorama here after selling $1,300,000 worth of cars, a gain of $100,000 over last year. Attendance

Come, Take 40-Cent Tour Of Rudy Vallee's Mansion

HOLLYWOOD (P)—You haven't seen anything until you've seen Rudy Vallee's house.

The place makes Liberace's house—piano-shaped pool and all—look puny by comparison. Come along for a tour.

You climb up, up, up into the Hollywood hills, get a little lost, then find Pyramid place on which Rudy lives. You pass through an auto gate — "caution—this gate closes 20 seconds after you enter"—and climb to the top of the peak, stopping your car on a turntable as per instructions on a sign.

The master of the house is there to greet you, picturesquely dressed in knee-length yellow socks, walking shorts, yellow sport shirt and checked coat. He is smoking a long cigar and instructs you to follow him for the "40-cent tour."

"When I was looking for a house in 1941, I gave my real estate man an impossible chore," Rudy explains. "I told him I wanted a house that was close to Hollywood—because I was sure then that radio would go on forever. I wanted him to find a place which had a hilltop location, plenty of space to entertain, a swimming pool, a tennis court, a place to show movies and owners in trouble."

Miraculously, Rudy adds, he found this place. It was built by Ann Harding and Harry Bannister in 1930, then passed into other hands. Rudy remarks that he has added many features himself, including the door chimes that play his theme song, "My Time Is Your Time."

He displays the living part of the house, which is ornate in the southern California tradition of the '20s and '30s. At the head of the stairs is a hidden passageway so small that Jackie Gleason couldn't get through it. This leads to a sun deck, where a hidden bed slides out at the press of a button.

He displays another hidden door which is a closet filled with enough supplies to stock a village drug store. "My father was a pharmacist," he explains. "It's always been my hobby."

He takes you into the large bedroom with seven-foot square bed and dozens of Mrs. Vallee's perfume bottles on the dressing table. Then you go down a long hallway, past his spacious office and outdoors. End of the tour? No, it's just starting.

He leads you down a steep path, past a sign saying only thoughtless people discard cigarette butts ("find and use ash trays"). At one level is a large barbecue and swimming pool — okay, Liberace, so it's only rectangular.

On the next level is a tennis court, championship size. Rudy leads you to a door under the court. Inside, you find yourself in a long hallway, about the length of two Pullman cars. On the walls are photographs, clippings and posters covering Vallee's long career.

Canton Election Squabble Appealed

COLUMBUS (P)—Charles L. Babcock has appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court from refusal of the Stark County election board to accept a cashier's check for a recount in last November's mayoral election in Canton.

Babcock, a Democrat, lost to Republican incumbent Carl F. Wise. Demanding a recount, Babcock filed a cashier's check, but the board said statute required a deposit of cash or a certified check.

In action brought directly in the appellate court, Babcock asked a writ of mandamus against election board members requiring them to accept his check. The court held for the board.

What Can He Do With Streetcar

DALLAS (P)—Bobby Slinger, 20-year-old bank messenger, is now the owner of a 48-foot streetcar but has no place to put it. He won it in a drawing held by the Dallas Transit Co. which gave the streetcar away when it converted to buses this month.

Slinger has 10 days to move the trolley off the transit company's property. The transit firm said it would cost at least $100 to move the aged streetcar which is worth about $100.

Sokolsky's These Days

But what the politicians had better know is that he will not answer it on the basis of cardiograms, or sedimentation records, or blood counts, or what this or that doctor says to him. It is too late for such things to matter.

He will answer it on the basis of one who was very close to death and who feels that his duty involves a risk of another bump, the next one a fatal bump, perhaps. He will answer after he has come altogether at peace with himself and does not fear the consequences of his decision.

Daily I am told that once cured of a coronary, one can live his normal life if his normal life has been sensible. But the man who has suffered a coronary takes on responsibilities not with the buoyant hopefulness of youth but with a sense of maturity, a great sense of personal responsibility. He has already had his gamble with life and understands what it means.

Auto Tire Pump Save's Man's Life

TERRACE, B. C. (P)—An automobile tire pump was credited with saving the life of a motorist who had been left for dead.

Passersby thought Graham Whatman, 34, of Prince Rupert, and Mrs. Ann Ezilda, 36, were both dead of carbon monoxide fumes when they found the couple in a car stalled in a snowbank. They notified Mr. and Mrs. William McRae, who lived near the scene.

The McRaes revived Whatman by forcing air into his lungs with a tire pump. His woman companion, however, was dead.

Navy Lays Keel For 4th A-Sub

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (P)—The Navy has laid the keel for its fourth atomic-powered submarine—the first to be built at a naval shipyard.

It is the USS Swordfish, named in honor of a submarine lost in the Pacific in World War II after sinking 21 enemy ships and damaging eight.

Newark Man Due To Hear Death Terms

NEWARK, Ohio (P)—Earl Sullivan of Utica today still had an eight-day wait before he hears the fateful words which will start him on the path toward Ohio's electric chair.

A three-judge court yesterday found him guilty of first-degree murder in the slaying of his estranged wife, Valeria. He is 32 and so was she. The court failed to recommend mercy. That made the death sentence mandatory.

Judge Charles B. Holtsberry of Licking County said the death sentence will be delivered in court Friday, Feb. 3.

Sullivan pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. He shot his wife after they left a Halloween dance at the American Legion Hall in Utica and went to an alley to discuss their differences. A .22 caliber bullet hit Mrs. Sullivan in the head.

Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent of the Lima State Hospital, and Dr. Dwight Palmer, Columbus psychiatrist, testified they believe Sullivan was sane at the time of the shooting.

Sullivan's attorney, Miss Virginia Weiss, gave no indication whether the verdict will be appealed.

Winter Olympic Games Opened By Italy Chief

Russia, Norway Vie For Top Honors In Global Snow Tests

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—The snow-starved seventh Winter Olympic games opened in Cortina's modernistic 12,000-seat ice stadium today as 1,100 athletes from 39 nations paraded in brilliantly colored attire.

Russia, competing for the first time in the international winter competition, is expected to challenge Norway for the unofficial top honors.

President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy proclaimed the games open and Guilianna Chenal Minuzzo, Italian ski champion, took the Olympic oath of fair play on behalf of competitors. It was the first time a woman had been given this honor.

The opening day competition was confined to two hockey games—Italy vs Austria and Canada vs Germany—as athletes and officials alike anxiously watched for snow that could change the icy, rocky ski courses into perfect runs. Snow was hauled in from nearby mountains to the center of town to make the parade more realistic.

The marching athletes were led by the tiny Greek delegation, as is Olympic custom.

The big U.S. team wore the gaudiest uniforms of them all—bright red fur caps, sparkling white jackets and blue pants. The Russians were attired in brown fur caps and powder blue coats.

The words with which President Gronchi formally opened the games, as prescribed by protocol, were starkly simple.

"I declare open the seventh Olympic Winter games of Cortina celebrating the 18th Olympiad of the modern era."

Guido Caroli, Italian speed skating champion, brought in the torch which was lit Sunday in Rome and the Olympic flame was started—to burn day and night until the competition is over (Feb. 5).

The U. S. flag was carried by Jim Bickford of Saranac Lake, N. Y., husky, 43-year-old veteran of three previous Olympics.

Caroli received the Olympic torch in the stadium. He circled the stadium on his skates, holding the torch aloft.

He hit microphone wires in front of the presidential box and fell headlong but somehow hung on to the torch. He quickly righted himself and resumed gliding around the stadium. At the open end of the arena, Caroli walked slowly up the ramp and stood alongside of the big bowl that becomes the Olympic torch for these games.

After holding the torch straight up, the Italian pointed it into the bowl and the flame shot up. The crowd roared at the completion of the traditional ceremony.

Big Ten Data Show Illini's Superiority

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois' hold on first place in the Big Ten basketball race was reflected today in official conference statistics which show the Illini taking more shots and hitting at a better percentage than any other team.

The tremendous pace built by Illinois in sweeping to four league victories without a loss must be maintained, however, to head off a challenge by the Iowa Hawkeyes, who have won four straight after an opening Big Ten defeat.

Coach Harry Combes of the Illini fears that his team may suffer from an enforced layoff of competition during semester examinations. Illinois' last game was with Purdue Jan. 16. It meets DePaul in Chicago Stadium Saturday night then gets back into Big Ten business at Minnesota Monday.

The Illini are averaging 77 field goal attempts per game and hitting on 406 per cent of them—both top marks in the conference. They have made 125 out of 308 field goal shots and are averaging a pace-setting 89 points per game.

Iowa is averaging 70 shots, hitting 400. The Hawkeyes are averaging 76 points, far below Illinois, but have held opponents to a conference low of 66 per game. Illinois has yielded 72.

Scioto At Jackson Battle Tops Card

Deers Host Unbeaten Ashville; Pickaway Pirates Trek To Darby

In what might turn out to be a real battle, Jackson's Wildcats Friday night will be fighting hard to retain their grip on second place in the County basketball League when they entertain Scioto.

Scioto has improved as the season progressed while Jackson has just begun to hit its early season winning form.

The Wildcats stand 7-1 in the league and have a 10-4 season mark, third best among County teams. The Buffaloes have a 4-3 league slate and show a 9-5 season mark, fourth best of County teams.

Both teams show great scoring power with Scioto hitting at a 69.7 per game clip while Jackson has found the range for a 69-point per game average. Both teams have allowed nearly 60 points per game to opponents.

ANOTHER top attraction should be the Pickaway at Darby battle. Both teams are 3-4 in the league. Darby has a 6-8 season slate while the Pirates are 5-7 for the year.

Cellar-dwelling Williamsport will host the undefeated Ashville Broncos. The lowly Deers have won only one 12 games while the mighty Broncos haven't known defeat in 13 battles.

A win for Ashville, rated 22nd in the state, will clinch at least a tie for the quintet for the County League championship.

Walnut, 2-7 in the league and 3-10 for the year, has a date with the Indians at Monroe. Monroe, overwhelmed last week by Ashville, will attempt to hit the comeback trail.

The Indians have lost only two of 13 games, both in league competition. They have won six league outings to merit their third place.

IN THE fifth league fracas for the night, the Bulldogs of New Holland will travel to Saltcreek. The Bulldogs have a 3-4 league slate and are just below the .500 mark for the season with a 6-7 record.

The Saltcreek Warriors have won only two of 12 games this season, both in league competition. The Warriors have dropped six league tilts.

In a non-league fray, Atlanta's Red Raiders will entertain Jeffersonville.

Warriors, Pistons Pacing Pro Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors and the Fort Wayne Pistons each held commanding leads today in the National Basketball Assn. eastern and western divisions.

The Warriors, led by Paul Arizin's 26 points, downed the Syracuse Nats 112-100 last night to gain a game on the second-place Boston Celtics in the eastern division. The Celtics were knocked off by Fort Wayne 101-100 and dropped 4½ games behind.

In other games, the Minneapolis Lakers defeated the New York Knickerbockers 104-95 and the St. Louis Hawks beat the Rochester Royals 114-106.

Single Setback Knocks Team Out Of Tourney

As the close of the regular basketball season nears, thoughts quite naturally turn to the big tournaments, together with their thrills, joys, and disappointments.

Breaking an eight-year-old policy, this year's Pickaway County Class "B" tournament will be a single elimination affair. The semi-double-elimination system has been used for the past eight years.

The top three tournament teams will go to the district State tournament to be played in Westerville or at Capital University in Columbus.

If the County League champion is not among the top three tournament teams, then only the top two tournament teams and the league title winner will go since the league champion is guaranteed a trip.

DATES of the games, all of which are to be played in the Pickaway County Fairgrounds coliseum, are Feb. 13, 15, 17, 20, and 24.

Three games, the first starting at 7 p. m., will be played the first night. Two games will be played the remainder of the evenings, with the first tilt set to start at 7:30 p. m.

Price of tickets purchased at the door will be 75 cents. Students will be able to buy ducats at reduced prices at their schools only.

For the first time in many years, the concessions at the tournament will be handled by the schools.

Two former Cardinal pitchers, Joe Presko and Bobby Tiefenauer, will be with the Detroit Tigers in Spring training at Lakeland, Fla.

Greenberg, Cronin Named To Hall Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Hank Greenberg, who in 1938 came within three of breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs, and Joe Cronin, the most expensive player in baseball, took their places alongside the game's immortals today in Baseball's Hall of Fame.

The two slugging right-handed hitters earned membership to the shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y., yesterday when they received more than the necessary 75 per cent of the vote of the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. They became the 80th and 81st Hall of Famers.

Greenberg was named on 164 of the 193 ballots cast to 152 for Cronin. Only players active in the 1930-50 period were eligible and they could not have been active as a coach or manager within the last five years. The pair will be inducted formally at the Cooperstown Museum next July.

Greenberg, 45, who quit as a player in 1947, now is in his sixth year as general manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Cronin, 49, has been general manager of the Boston Red Sox since 1948, two years after he retired as a player. In 1934 he was sold by Washington to Boston for a record price of $250,000 and immediately was named manager of the Red Sox.

In all, 130 former players received mention, including several who were not eligible because their playing careers had ended before 1930.

Charlie (Red) Ruffing, an outstanding pitcher with the New York Yankee pennant winners in the '30s and '40s, was third with 97 votes. Other top vote-getters were Ed Roush, 91; Lefty Gomez, 89; and Hack Wilson, 74.

Williamsport To Battle Ashville In Junior High Tourney Finals

In the semi-finals of the Junior High tournament played Wednesday night at Jackson, Ashville pulverized Walnut, 53-15, and Williamsport blasted Scioto, 63-29.

The two victors will collide at Jackson Saturday night while the two losers will play for the consolation award the same night.

Bob Eitel of Muhlenberg won the foul shooting contest, dropping in 18 of 25 shots.

In the Ashville-Walnut tilt, the Broncos opened up with a 15-5 first period lead, held a 28-13 intermission advantage and allowed the Tigers only two points in the third canto to run up a 38-15 lead. Walnut failed to score in the final frame.

HIGH SCORERS for Ashville were Hoover with 21 tallies and Gregg with 12. Davis led the Tigers with six points.

In the other Junior High battle, Williamsport stretched a slim 13-9 first period lead to 33-13 at half-time. The Deers were out in front 45-24 at the end of the third period and held Scioto to five points in the final canto while tossing in 18 points.

Stonerock led the winners with

Giambra Closer To Title Match

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Joey Giambra is nearer a crack at the world middleweight boxing championship after a fast finish last night gave him a unanimous 10-round decision over Al Andrews.

Giambra, from Buffalo, N. Y., swept the last three rounds on the cards of referee Eldar Craft, who voted 97-88 and judges John Burton 96-94 and Charles Ford 96-95.

20 tallies while Humphrey chipped in with 19 and Myers tallied 17 markers.

Clark led Scioto's scoring with ten points and teammate Kerschner hit for nine markers.

The consolation game Saturday will be played at 7 p. m. while the championship scrap will get underway at 8 p. m. Trophies will be awarded to the winner, runnerup and winner of the consolation game.

Outdoor Writers Tap Athens Man

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gene Knoder of Athens has been selected by the outdoor writers of Ohio as their "man of the year."

He was picked because of his work in producing a hybrid pheasant that shows promise of staying in sections of the state where such birds never prospered before.

He also is conducting experiments at the Waterloo Wildlife Experiment Station near Athens in an effort to re-establish wild turkeys in Ohio.

Campy Awarded Top Bum Salary

BROOKLYN (AP)—Roy Campanella, who two years ago feared his baseball career was over, now is the highest priced player in Brooklyn Dodger history.

The jovial catcher, whose comeback in 1955 perhaps was the biggest single factor in bringing Brooklyn its first world championship, signed a contract yesterday calling for an estimated $42,500.

Night Hunting To End Tuesday

Raccoon, opossum and skunk night hunting will end next Tuesday, Jan. 31. This will also be the closing date for the trapping of muskrat, mink (inland trapping district) and raccoon, opossum and skunk.

Night hunting hours are from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. There is a limit of 4 on raccoons but no limit on opossum and skunk.

Fight Promoter Defies Ring Ban

TROY (AP)—Fight Promoter Jack Laken of Dayton says the fight program scheduled here tonight will go on despite warnings that any fighter appearing on the card will be suspended.

Al Bechtold, Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Assn. of Boxing and Wrestling Commissions, yesterday renewed his threat to suspend participants in the program. Laken, who blamed bad weather for calling for the fights last Thursday, said "The show will go on." Lightweights L. C. Morgan of Dayton and Noel Humphreys of Charleston, top the card.

Mr. and Mrs. Auto Buyer
Pickaway County, Ohio.

As you have noticed, the trend in the past several months in some parts of the automobile industry has been to try to sell automobiles by making the public believe they are getting something for nothing. Advertisements offering large discounts, fantastic trade-in prices and other ridiculous inducements have become almost commonplace among some auto dealers.

We do not feel however that you the buying public can be fooled into believing that this or any other business can operate and survive without a legitimate profit. For those of you who have investigated these fantastic offers as we have done, you too have found that each one has a "catch" to it.

We do not believe that there is a place in this industry for this kind of dealer but until public sentiment drives them out of business, we must continue to put up with them and their schemes.

We have been in the automobile business here in Circleville for 45 years. Our constant aim has been to provide you with the finest products and service to back up these products at the lowest possible cost. We intend to stay here and continue doing that.

Last year we sold 10% of the total new cars bought in this county. This was not done by false or misleading advertising but by honest selling methods and competitive prices. For your protection and satisfaction, we pledge never to deviate from this policy.

Sincerely,
CLIFTON MOTOR SALES INC.
